CAMBRIDGE HIGH AND LATIN SCHOOL

Dedication

To

Mr. Cleveland

Inspiring leader, wise counsellor, and understanding friend, we, the Class of 1934, with gratitude and affection, dedicate our Year Book

Headmaster

MR. BRAMHALL

Mr. Bramhall, our senior master, has played a large part in our school life. We shall be ever grateful for his excellent advice, his interest in our activities, and his cordial friendliness in our contacts with him. He has worked with us, and has inspired us to work with him. His ready help and sincere cooperation has helped us immeasurably. We shall never forget him.

THOMAS LONG BRAMHALL
Assistant Headmaster

Prologue

In this book we can relate only a small part of the events of our high school days. We hope, however, that it will bring to you vivid and pleasant memories of all our happy moments, whether or not they are here recorded.

In Memoriam

MISS GERTRUDE H. CROOK

For many years Miss Crook was a teacher at the Cambridge High and Latin School. A tireless worker, ever willing to help her pupils, and with a genuine interest in them, Miss Crook was one of the best loved teachers in the school. Her quiet, unassuming manner, her keen humor, and her deep understanding made her a distinctive personality, unselfish, gentle, interesting, and efficient. Many pupils have gained much from her instruction.

Unselfishness was her chief characteristic and her death brought great loss.

MISS LILLIAN EDGERLY

After sixteen years of faithful service as a teacher in the Cambridge High and Latin School, Miss Lillian Edgerly died in May, 1934, after a brief retirement.

She will be remembered by those who knew her for her love of fair play, her true sportsmanship, her rare, keen sense of humor, and her courage. She was a loyal, conscientious teacher who gave unstintingly of herself in the interest of those who came under her guidance.

MISS SARAH W. KELLY

In 1911 Miss Kelly came here and entered into her work with the enthusiasm and industry which was always characteristic of her. Her life was in her school. She could not have a class unless she felt that her work was prepared to the best of her ability. Such an example of thoroughness was an inspiration to her classes. This was shown by the excellent record that her pupils always made in the college entrance examinations. Those of us who knew her well, will always remember her loyalty and many acts of kindness.

In high emprise our flags unfold
As we upon our voyage start,
Against our cheeks wind fresh and cold,
And in our hearts bright hope as chart.

The dawning of our lives is past.
Now comes the strength of morning light,
When we our place before the mast
Assume, and ply our oar with might.

The beaconlights to guide our oar,
Which through the years you've set aglow,
When high the waves may surge and roar,
Will pilot us in ebb and flow.

Farewell to High and Latin halls!
For we must sail courageously —
Sail forward where the vision calls
To harbor and to victory.

CAROL COLEMAN

Class Song

As on the hill of life we mount,
We all aspire to some far fame,
And, armed with knowledge early learnt,
We struggle upward toward this aim.

Though some of us shall never reach
Those distant far receding goals,
Though some of us shall feel defeat
Sear deeply in our craving souls,

Yet we shall taste the best in life,
And of its richness have our fill,
If, vanquished, we can rise and laugh
And onward go, undaunted still!

They truly conquer who possess
The same all eager fiery heart,
The same clear vision, bright with hope
In life's decline as at its start.

In September, 1930, we, of the class of '34 were thrown upon the unsuspecting, defenseless faculty of C. H. L. S. as green as any freshmen had ever been. The first few months of our freshman year we spent in learning: that ankle-socks were positively immoral, a rule which has since been determined old-fashioned; (we suspect that some of the teachers have found how comfortable that particular item of clothing is); that only P. G.'s may come to school minus a necktie; that eating candy in a study period, although a thrilling performance, is quite dangerous, and a venture only for the bravest of the brave; that chewing gum in Room 11 meant a four-page composition on Mr. Wrigley; that seventh-periods were the law of the land, the infraction of which meant hectic results; and last but not least; — that freshmen were to be seen but not heard.

While we were learning all these wondrous things, we were gaining, on the side, a passing acquaintance with Homer, the alphabet doubled and divided by $87\frac{1}{2}\%$ (some call it algebra), the meaning of "the Milky Way" when not relating to a candy bar, the balancing of a budget, and the Constitution of the U. S.

The highlight of our freshman year came on Nov. 11, 1930. On that eventful day we were allowed to join our high and mighty upper classmen on the grounds of the Public Library, where General Gouraud was the chief figure in the Armistice Day Celebration. Of course, we didn't understand a word he said, as he assailed us in a tongue unfamiliar to us, save for an article here and there and perhaps one or two verbs. But nevertheless we were happy to think we had been admitted to the "upper circle". Those were the happy days! — before we knew that there were plenty of sources for notes besides home!

After having successfully weathered the ordeal of our first departmentals, our intelligence tests, and that greatest stigma — "being a freshman," we finally were elevated to that supercilious haughty, domineering state of "Sophomore". During this year, we (oh, so reluctantly!?) agreed to hold classes from 8:15 A. M. till 12: noon in order that Rindge might use the Latin School, afternoons.

It made life seem brighter in spite of the famous catechisms in English "Lit" and our bi-weekly visits to the assemblies because in that precious time we could finish one English assignment, one French lesson (barring irregular verbs — which were never learned), and one bar of candy. Twenty minutes meant a lot when we were Sophomores!

This same year we learned that one might even run in certain parts of the corridor, between classes, but that in other places (as outside of Room 55) one must walk straight along, in perfect silence, not even daring to think, or move an eyelash.

Who will ever forget the Gym Exhibition of May 10, 1932? I don't believe any member of the class of '34 will ever forget it, or live it down.

CAMBRIDGE HIGH AND LATIN SCHOOL

But! After all we had lots of fun, and what else do normal Sophomores want?

The older we grew, the wiser we grew! That is; — by the time we had reached the peak of "Junior-dom", we had awakened to the fact that parties, proms, socials, and elections are more interesting than "book-learning". We may have been late discovering that fact, but from September '32 to June '33 we lost no time!

Early in the year we held junior election. James McCormick, by virtue of his outstanding scholastic record and his ability to keep up the "social side" at the same time, was elected junior president, after a whirlwind of "blackboard campaigning".

Shortly after this, we discovered that there was a certain bungalow on Beech Street! Let it not be said that the class of '34 neglected that bungalow!

Later on, came the Junior Prom, followed by a noticeable precipitation in marks! As time advanced, failure out-weighed, and in some cases, supplanted directly, honor slips. That didn't matter much for they resembled each other — somewhat. At this time, also, several of the girls in our class were claimed by the K. B.

Finally, on Sept. 12, 1933, we reached the heights. Holding the reins firmly, we started out on the last lap of our 4-year jaunt, determined not to be bothered by anything. Not even the most intensive "Review Drive" in the history of the school interfered with our program, although we did see the magic words, "Show your school spirit — subscribe to the Review" in our sleep for a few nights.

Our first move was to break all precedent with our senior election. Having President Roosevelt and the "New Deal" in mind, we, the class of '34, elected, for the first time in the entire eighty-six years of this school's history, a girl to the post of president of the graduating class. For this honor we chose Eleanor Holmgren.

The next important step was the production of the Senior Drama. On February 16, in Rindge Auditorium, our class presented a delightful musical comedy entitled "Buddies". Of course, this was an outstanding performance and boasted in its cast, our junior president, James McCormick, our senior president, Eleanor Holmgren, and our valedictorian, Harriet A. Varrell!

In April, Arnold Hurvitz and Harry M. Johnson were sent to represent our school paper "The Review" in a nationwide contest, in which we were awarded Second Place. The credit for this victory, is due, in great part to the members of our class who have worked for the past two or three years on the staff of the Review, ever improving it.

You may wonder how much studying we have done in this last year but you needn't worry, as we are not worrying. We now know all there is to know, — that is; — that it is possible to skip assembly without detection; that College Boards are all alike (and very entertaining); that one may get by without going blind studying (if he has good eyesight) — and countless other discoveries which now that we have found them out, will do us no more good.

Well, now that graduation is upon us as the finishing line of our high-school career, we, the class of thirty-four must draw an abrupt end to our history, as here we must part!

BUDDIES

On February 16, in Rindge Auditorium, the Senior class presented a most delightful drama, a musical comedy called "Buddies".

The presentation was highly entertaining, owing to an abundance of humor, colorful costumes, and a French aspect, which, coupled with fine acting and the admirable presentation of songs both in French and English, gave it all the essentials of a highly successful and quite professional play.

THE CHARACTERS

The leading lady, Eleanor Holmgren, our class president, took the part of Julie, a little French girl who falls in love with, and later wins, an American soldier, "Babe". Eleanor's charming singing, especially in the song "Fairy Tales" was enthusiastically received by the audience and her natural and lovable characterization of "Julie" deserves much praise.

Harold Bowers immediately and completely won over the audience, especially the ladies, by his portrayal of "Sonny", a young American soldier who gets into difficulties when his fiancée, "Louise Maitland", having followed him to France, arrives just in time to find him embracing "Julie". All difficulties are cleared up, however, when "Sonny" explains that he was merely defending "Julie" from the villain, "Pettibois". Harry rendered the song "My Indispensable Girl" in fine style, and his advice to "Babe" in "how to make a proposal" was very humorous and rather instructive.

"Babe", the American soldier who was finally won by "Julie", was played very well by Raymond Wells. He will long be remembered as the young man who, on every attempt to propose to "Julie", lost courage after the words, — "Darling, I — —"

SENIOR DRAMA COMMITTEE

The villainous "Alphonse Pettibois" was played convincingly by John Whoriskey, who would have it understood, "He ees un gentilhomme."

James McCormick gave a great portrayal of a Jewish soldier who was at the mercy of the other soldiers because of his inability to "parler français". He and Herbert Kubli, the orderly, furnished the comedy relief.

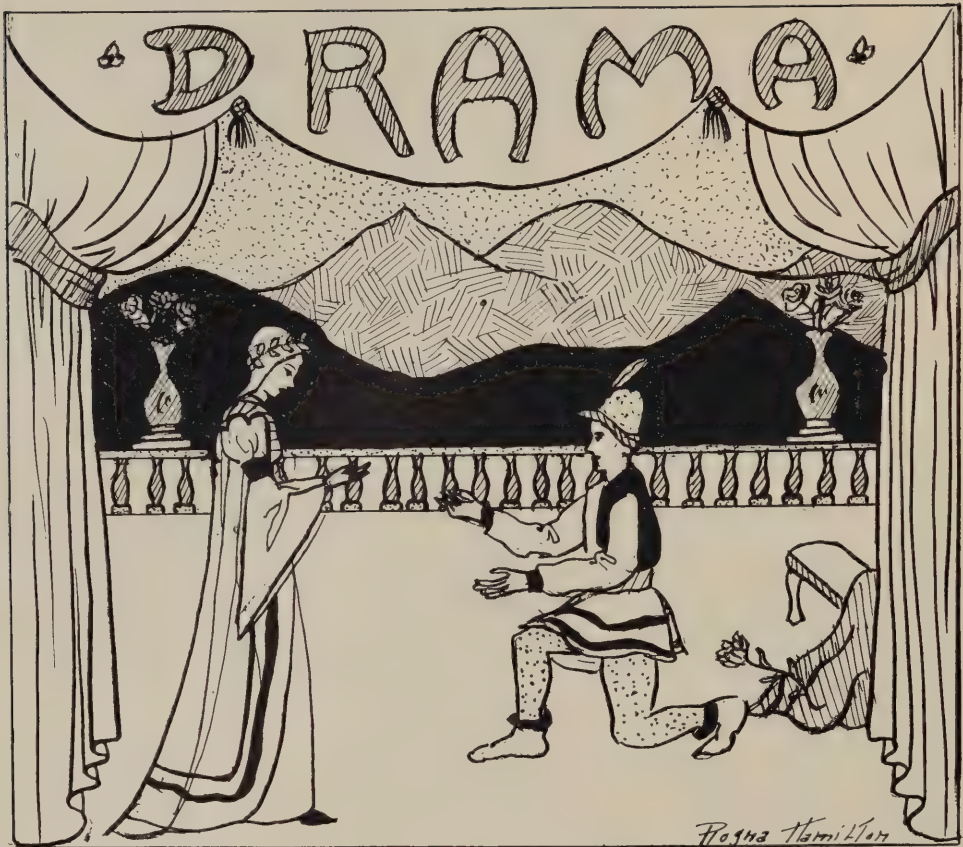

We are greatly indebted to Harriet Varrell, our valedictorian, for her faultless presentation of "Julie's" heartbroken mother. Only Harriet could have conversed in French with as much facility as if it were her native tongue, which, of course, was essential to the perfect portrayal of her difficult rôle.

Harry Johnson, as "Buddy", a boisterous soldier, had us wondering for weeks after the drama, just where he got the voice.

Also deserving of mention were: Martha McCarthy for her charming presentation of "Sonny's" fiancée, "Louise Maitland"; Gertrude Brooks and Mary Terzian for their fine work in the parts of "Julie's" two sisters, Babbette and Marie; Henry Rogers, for his convincing portrayal of a "hard boiled" sergeant called Biff; Paul Stressenger as Johnny; and Walter Cummings for his genuinely tragic portrayal of "Rube".

The closing song of the drama, "Hello, Home" was well done by the entire cast, and left everybody happy.

Miss Hartigan deserves a great deal of credit for her excellent job of coaching the cast to perfection, and the Drama Committee composed of Alice Tibbetts, Frances Collins, Martha McCarthy, Barbara Sheridan, and Lillian Travers are also deserving of our thanks for their efforts in making the drama a great success.

DRAMATIC CLUB

This spring a Dramatic Club has been organized with Miss Hartigan, the head of the Oral English Department, as its faculty advisor. We have never had a dramatic association in Cambridge High and Latin before, and this society has been enthusiastically received by the students. Membership is open to all classes and after eliminating tryouts quite a group of undergraduates were chosen in April. Those with previous dramatic experience were admitted without trials upon application. Elections for officers were held and the following were chosen: President, Harriet Varrell; Vice-President, Charles McFarland; Secretary, Harold Johnson; Treasurer, Martha McCarthy. Our vice-president, Charles McFarland, who is a junior, will automatically become president next September.

On May 18, a performance was given by the Club for the benefit of the Athletic Association. The program was varied and provided different kinds of entertainment. "The Finger of God" by Percival Wilde was presented with Lawrence Mullin as the would-be thief, Philip Barron as his treacherous valet, Benson, and Eleanor Holmgren as the girl who saved him from his crime. A dagger dance by Olga Sanson and a tap dance by Fred Kimball followed. "Red Carnations", an amusing comedy of doubtful identities, was presented by Harold Bowers, Paul Stressinger, and Eleanor Coen. The more dances by Olga Sanson were succeeded by another comedy, "Town Hall To-night". This was a hilarious burlesque on the "show bizness" and the rôles were played by James McCormick, Harold Cunningham, Harold Johnson, Genevieve Doherty, Pearl Bedrosian, and Mary Hayes.

We hope that next year we can give more performances of this kind. We also plan to give entertainment for assemblies, and hope that the Club will give the latent dramatic talent in C. H. L. S. an opportunity to express itself.

What a hustle and bustle in radio station C. H. L. S.! All is being prepared for the reunion broadcast of the class of '34. Myles Sterne, sporting editor of the Boston Globe, has been prevailed upon to act as master of ceremonies at this gigantic broadcast.

Groups of class-mates that have not seen one another for years have convened in different corners of the studio, just as they used to gather in the corridors.

James McCormick approaches me and reminds me to vote to re-elect him as governor in the coming election. Bill McLaughlin, his campaign manager, accompanies him.

Ah! the broadcast is to begin. As Myles introduces the celebrities we shall tell you about them.

First and foremost comes Miss Eleanor Holmgren, who has just completed her latest picture and is acclaimed by critics to be the greatest screen star of the age.

Next Ray Wells, whose corridor yodeling annoyed us so greatly back in '34, sings. He is the highest paid crooner on the radio.

A play written by Ann Bartlett is being presented at the Colonial Theatre this week. Several members of the cast are present to do a scene from the play. Among them we see Gertrude Brooks, Barbara Sheridan, Lillian Travers, Hildegard Baxter, Dorothy Hollis, Herbie Kubli, Jack Crowley, Paul Stressinger, and Bill Skinner. It is easy to remember how Bill's acting panicked us at senior assemblies. John Devlin is the leading man in this group of Thespians, and "Dot" Leonard plays opposite him. The play is cleverly written and well acted by these talented people.

Listening to them as they chat among themselves we hear much more about the theatre world.

Martha McCarthy's acting and her scintillating personality have caused her to be branded "a second Hepburn". Her newest play, called "Lovable" was written by Al Maguire, whose versatility has certainly surprised us. The play is being directed by Margaret Altman. The position of property manager is in dispute — Both Henry Rogers and Harry Johnson claim the position.

Era Cassime, too, is playing to a full house on Broadway every evening.

Harry Bowers, whose meteoric rise to great dramatic heights last fall amazed all, is vacationing in Squeedunk, planting potatoes.

CAMBRIDGE HIGH AND LATIN SCHOOL

While I have been digressing, the program has been continuing. Miss Harriet Varrell, president of Radcliffe, gives a very enlightening speech on "How the Einstein theory of a fourth dimension, though impractical, may be verified through intensive research". Why didn't I bring a dictionary? Miss Varrell leaves the studio accompanied by Mary Sanders, Helen Flanders and Rita Wetmore, three of her assistants at Radcliffe.

Who is that group of very dignified ladies in that corner?

My, they're school teachers. Among them I see Eleanor Goulart, Betty Twomey, Mary Regan, Josephine Ciampi, and Josephine Zygalá.

Alice Tibbetts approaches the "mike" and speaks on "Why we should continue turning handsprings daily lest old age should creep up on us," with illustrations. Alice is the Secretary of Physical Education in the President's Cabinet.

Next Phyllis Carr ends the broadcast by warbling a "blues" song, accompanied by Frances Nixon, noted pianist.

I leave the studio with Phyllis, who tells me of the accomplishments of our classmates in the musical world. Helen Cooper is singing with the Chicago Opera Company. "Vicky" Hacıan and her piano accordion gain a larger following each day.

David Glick is the owner of the snappiest and peppiest dance orchestra in Boston.

After having studied abroad for several years, Gladys Palser has returned to this country and is one of the greatest pianists in the United States.

As we leave the studio we are overtaken by Myles, who offers to tell us the latest news in the sport world. I listen intently and learn that Jerry Desrosiers has just been purchased by the Bruins for a fabulous sum.

Bill McMahon and George Sawicki are playing for the Boston Braves and helping them in their fight for the pennant.

A gigantic event is scheduled for next week at the Madison Garden. The now aged Primo Carnera is to attempt to defend his crown against Bill Grunow, the "Cambridge Whirlwind."

Last evening at the Garden, Bud Montgomery was defeated by "The Masked Marvel". After the stirring battle the marvel was unmasked and discovered to be none other than Eddie Duffy.

Walter Brogan is still running in marathons. Perhaps, he'll win next year. At least, he has perseverance!

As I cross the common I meet Rita Jordan, Leila Larson, Marie McGloin and Hazel O'Hara. These leaders of Cambridge's social set inform me that they are going to tea at the residence of Miss Hilda Wunsch.

Frank Hynes has opened a night club in Harvard Square. Kay O'Connor, Marion Leary, Sis Marmaud, and Lil Orechia entertain there.

I purchase a copy of "The Cambridge Sun", now edited by Sol Kaufman. In it, I read that in a recent contest to ascertain who is the best all around secretary in greater Boston, Grace Baldwin, and Pauline Brouillard tied for first place. Ruth Drapen, I read, is conducting an exhibition of her paintings at the Museum of Fine Arts. Fred Lynch is master of ceremonies at one of Boston's most popular night clubs, and Georgia Greene is hostess.

CAMBRIDGE HIGH AND LATIN SCHOOL

Dorothy Canty has opened a very exclusive dress shoppe on the Avenue and she is patronized by those who realize what an expert designer she is.

As I pass through the College Yard I see two men who look as if they were carrying the cares of the world on their shoulders. They are John Briggs, professor of Applied Logic at Harvard, and Robert Church, professor of Psychology at Tech. They are so involved in discussion that they are quite unconscious of the fact that anyone else exists on the same planet with them.

I meet John Whoriskey, a little stouter and more mature. He is a successful veterinarian. His greatest achievement is the invention of "Whoriskey's Capsules for Distemper in Dogs." He tells me that Frances Collins is teaching piano at the New England Conservatory of Music.

After leaving him, I go home, and ruminate on the many successes of members of the Class of '34.

THE REVIEW

The year 1933-34 has been one of the most successful ever enjoyed by the Review.

The annual short-story contest, this year, was won by Dorothy Sullivan, who contributed "Day Dreams", and Fay Mowrey who submitted "Beachcombing". All the contestants submitted work of excellent quality and the decision as to a winner was difficult.

The Review, which is a member of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, sent two students of the staff, Harry Johnson, assistant editor, and Arnold Hurvitz, business manager, to attend the tenth anniversary convention. The trip yielded many valuable hints on running a school paper. On their return, the boys announced that the Review had taken Second Place in the contest for literary magazines from high schools with an enrollment over fifteen hundred pupils. We were exceedingly gratified to receive a beautiful medal, symbolic of the excellence which our magazine has attained.

The Review is one of the few high school magazines which are successful, independent of outside financial aid. This success is due to a large number of steady advertisers and loyal subscribers.

PHI CLUB

The Phi Club has increased the number of its membership to 38, the greatest number since its foundation. The only requisite for membership is being a Senior and having the desire to join. Among its members are many star athletes who gave the High School the baseball and hockey championships. The list includes the names of the most versatile athletes such as Johnny Spartachino, Jerry Desrosiers, Ed. Rooney, Lawrence Sullivan, Leonard Frisoli, Lester Alley, Harry Buckley, Bill Anderson, Johnny Gomez, Spud Murphy, Art Borges, and a great many others.

The Phi Club elected the following officers: Lester Alley, President; Leonard Frisoli, Vice-President, Edward Murphy, Secretary, and Mr. Phelan, Treasurer.

We wish to express our appreciation to all the members of the faculty of the High School's Annex for their kind efforts in giving us an education and the memory of days which have been the happiest of our lives. Special thanks are given to Mr. Leonard, our beloved master, who has been the source of fatherly advice during our school days.

THE KLAHOWJAHA BJUSTOFF CLUB

This year will be an outstanding one in the history of our club. We have an unusually large enrollment of members and we feel that we have had a spirit of co-operation among our girls throughout the year.

The money which came from our annual dance, which was both a financial and social success, and from selling candy at the Senior Drama is making it possible for us to do some charitable deeds. We distributed toys and clothing at Christmas to families suggested by the School Nurse, and at Thanksgiving we distributed several baskets of food. Our last charitable work for the year will be to send deserving girls on a vacation for their health.

We have been helped in every way by the supervision of our faculty advisors, Miss McElroy and Miss Murray.

The officers during the year were: Georgia Greene, President, succeeded by Hilda Wunsch, and Rita Jordan, secretary and treasurer.

DEBATING TEAM

Standing: H. Toomey, H. Bowers, D. Regan, H. Sanderson.
Sitting: R. Shaine, H. Johnson, J. Kaplan.

THE DURRELL DEBATING SOCIETY

The Debating Club has just completed a most effective and worthwhile year. Besides our old rivals of Lynn, Brookline and Roxbury Memorial the boys this year have met and debated with Somerville, Bangor and Portland, Maine and Mission High.

The Club has joined the National Forensic League which is the National Debating Society of the country. A tournament was held under the sponsorship of the league here in New England; in this six schools participated. C. H. L. S. placed third in this contest and deserves to be congratulated in that it is their first attempt at such a venture.

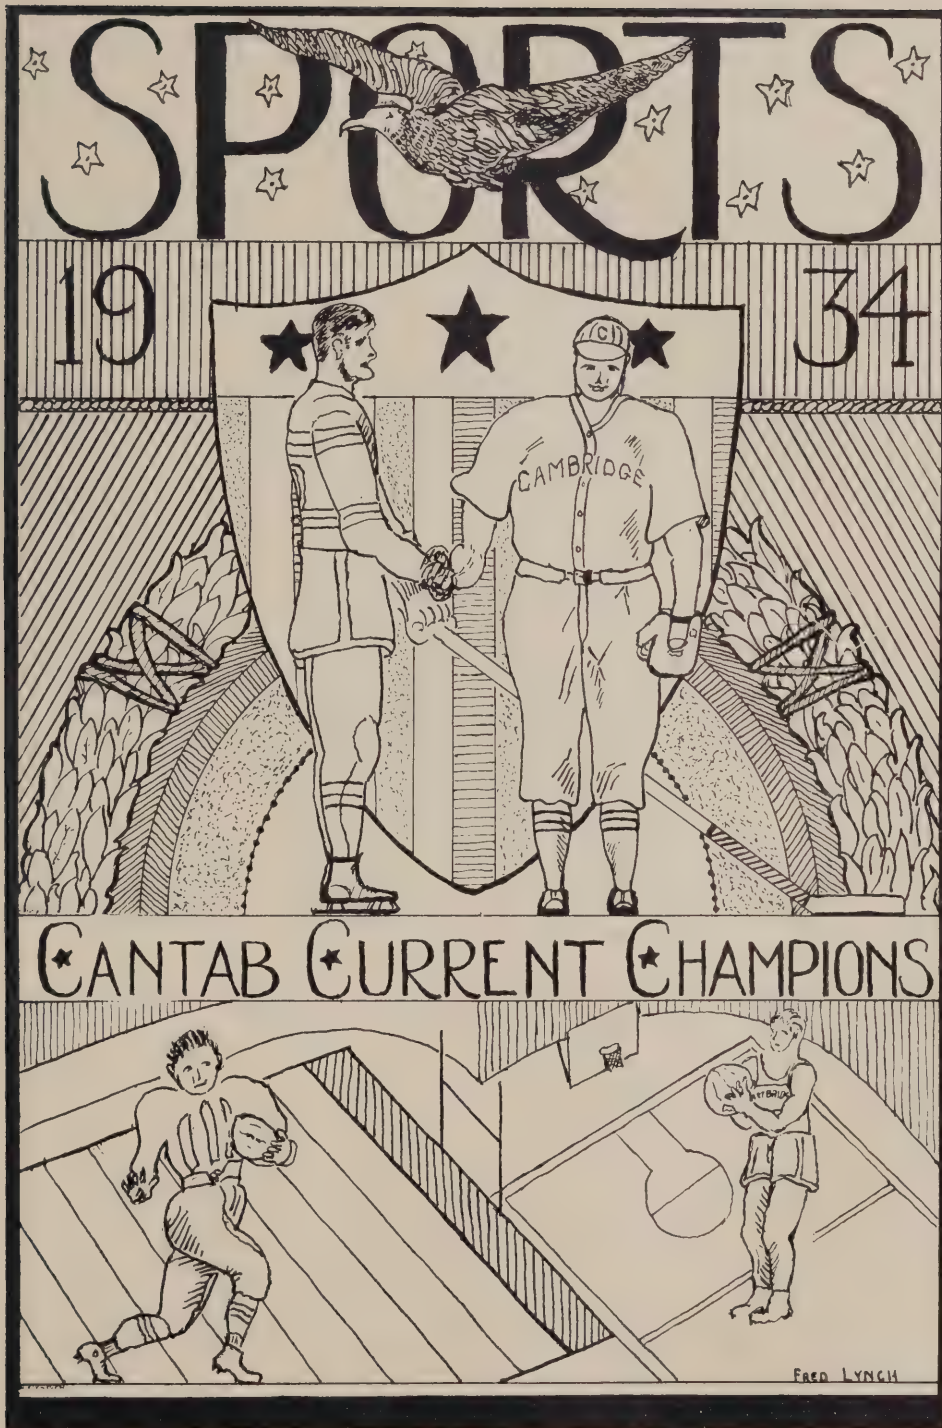

The boys who have carried the brunt of the work in the debates are — Harry M. Johnson, Philip Barron, Herman Sanderson, Henry Twomey, Jacob Kaplan, Donald Regan and Roland Shaine.

Of these boys the two outstanding rebuttalists are Harry Johnson and Philip Barron with Herman Sanderson a very close third. Philip Barron is the only senior to be lost for next year, thus the remaining boys form a splendid nucleus for next year's team.

The Durrell Prize Debate served to climax the debating season. The successful competitors chose for their subject — Resolved — "That substantial grants should be made by the Federal government to public education." The winners of this debate received individual medals and their names were inscribed on the Durrell Cup. They were Herman Sanderson, Donald Regan and Roland Shaine.

A key of the National Forensic League was given to the best speaker of the evening and this honor went to Harry M. Johnson, a veteran debater from last year and well deserving of the honor.

A word of thanks is due Mr. Cleveland who has encouraged our every venture and to Miss Breau, our coach, for her hard work and sympathetic understanding. So with high hopes we close this debating season and look forward to September, when once again the boys will labor in the field of argumentation.

FOOTBALL

When the candidates for the gridiron team of 1934 were called out many veterans reported and also some promising newcomers with whom Coaches Sheehan and Kelleher hoped to accomplish great deeds. The veterans were Maguire, Crawley, Dunlevy, Nichols, Ronzio, Murphy, Montgomery, and Lynch.

This year's gridiron team appeared on paper to be very strong but somehow the boys could not seem to click. The majority of the games were lost by the heart-breaking score of one touchdown. The best games that Latin played were against Haverhill when the potential state champions were forced to the limit to win 13 - 6, and against Arlington, when a penalty placed the ball on the one-yard line, whence it was pushed over. In addition Latin beat Brookline 7 - 6, and tying St. James of Haverhill and Boston College High each 0 - 0.

Captain Al Maguire, our courageous leader was one of the fiercest tacklers in the league, and also excellent as a pass receiver. Spartachino was our ace ball-carrier, but was helped out greatly by Crawley and Dunlevy; the latter two also took care of the passing and kicking departments.

Lynch, Galluccio, and Nichols alternated as fullback. The most reliable men in the line were Murphy, Sawicki, Capt.-elect Neudorf, Montgomery, Frisoli, Hynes and Sullivan. Coady, O'Brien, Stankunas, Harney, Conny Sullivan were the outstanding undergraduates.

HOCKEY TEAM

Third Row: Mr. Foley, Faculty Mgr.; R. Chaisson, E. Martin, H. Buckley, F. Crawley, A. Turowski, Mgr.; A. Boudreau, G. Sawicki, J. Spartachino, Mr. Culhane, Coach. Second Row: E. Sheridan, G. Desrosiers, J. Gomez, E. Rooney, Capt.; W. Anderson, C. Vinnicombe, A. Carchia. First Row: J. Hayes, Asst. Mgr.; A. DeLeo, Asst. Mgr.

HOCKEY

Hockey is one sport we can boast about, and make plenty of sound. The outstanding schoolboy teams from rival schools, Rindge, Stoneham, Arlington, Medford, and Belmont, all fell before the high powered Latin sextet in its march toward the championship until Melrose handed the Cantabs the only black mark of the season. Newton came the closest to edging us out of the race but after wild playing and desperate attacking, we held our first place with a 1 - 0 victory.

It should be brought to attention that six of the Cantabs composed part of the All Star team which defeated its Bay State rival so decisively. In the game with Catholic High of Montreal the Latin representatives accounted for all of the goals scored and in addition can lay claim to eleven of the goals made in the series with the stars of the Bay State League. Rooney led with seven points followed by Desrosiers with six and Crawley, Spartachino, and Anderson with two each. Latin with Spartachino and Anderson at its points and Gomes in the nets had the strongest defence in the league while the forward line of Vinnicombe, Crawley, Rooney, and Desrosiers was incomparable.

In honor of the boys who gave the school a fitting trophy, letters were awarded the following: Capt. Rooney, Capt.-elect Gomes, Desrosiers, Spartachino, Anderson, Sawicki, Crawley, Vinnicombe, Chaisson, Ronzio, Boudreau, Nagel, Donovan, Carchia, Sheridan, Buckley, Martin, and managers DeLeo and Truski.

Mention should be made of the banquet given this year's triumphant sextet when the boys were given gold pucks and white sweaters as well as being invited as special guests to the Bruins' game to receive the Eddie Shore trophy which was presented to Eddie Rooney. In addition Shore personally presented a hockey stick to Jerry Desrosiers, Latin's star who led the league in scoring.

BASKETBALL TEAM

Second Row: Mr. Foley, P. Frisoli, Asst. Manager; F. Munn, F. Montgomery, J. Stan-
First Row: L. Frisoli, E. Young, M. Koshlis, C. West, Capt.; A. Maguire, R. Gaudet, F. Lynch.

BASKETBALL

The basketball team started out with a red and white banner flying, but gradually the flag was lowered, then taken in and put away. There were such victories as those over Brookline, Newton, Nashua, Revere, then a line of defeats and the last two games with Rindge ending with Rindge winning both, 22 - 10 and 34 - 22.

A wealth of material reported to Coach Koslowski but it seemed as if the proper combinations could not be pieced together. Two complete teams composed the first squad and from these two it was difficult to select a starting five. Capt. West, Gaudet, Frisoli, and Sullivan seemed to be the most dependable, but then Young, Maguire, Lynch, Dunlevy, Montgomery, Alley, Kishkis, the Captain-elect, and Munn. Sophomore Gaudet and Charley West were the consistent high scorers.

A second team which won the majority of its games presented a fine group of boys from whom Koslowski will obtain good service next year. Their most thrilling game was with Rindge when in the third overtime the Cantabs won by one point. Mahoney, Simpson, Lamkin, Burt, and Brown appear to be promising varsity material.

BASEBALL TEAM

Third Row: J. Gnerri, C. Dorman, L. Pitchford, R. McIntyre, J. Hayes, Asst. Mgr.; P. Mahoney.
Second Row: W. Corcoran, G. Desrosiers, L. Frisoli, J. Riley, E. Rooney, J. Connors.
First Row: W. McMahon, F. Crawley, J. Spartachino, A. Galluccio, W. Anderson, A. Borges.

BASEBALL

Achieving startling results after a sluggish start, this year's nine bids fair to establish new diamond feats for C. H. L. S. Coach McDonald has produced an outfit that in all probability will rank on a par with that immortal 1932 combination.

Following a massacre on Woburn, Latin suffered successive heart-breaking defeats from Somerville and Newton and then captured her last seven contests. Included among her victims were Revere, Boston English, Somerville, Revere again, Rindge, Arlington, and Brookline.

The exceptional Latin success is chiefly attributed to her murderous batting power. Spartachino, Crawley, Capt. Galluccio, Anderson, Borges, Gnerre, McMahon, Rooney, Connors, Frisoli, and Pitchford are all adept at pounding the balls to all corners of the field.

Anderson, Desrosiers, Riley and Connors are providing apt, if not sensational mound protection. Anderson, Latin's mainstay closely followed by Desrosiers, Connors, and Riley seem to pitch when the team has a bad day afield and so far haven't broken into the win column.

The following in all probability, will be the boys to receive letters: Capt. Tony Galluccio, Spartachino, Anderson, Crawley, Rooney, Desrosiers, Gnerre, Pitchford, Connors, Frisoli, Borges, McIntyre, McMahon, Riley, Dorman, and Konotowski.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Second Row: Evelyn Bisson, Frances Ritvo, Miss Brown, Madeline Sullivan, Marie O'Leary.

First Row: Agnes Benkoski, Mary McDonald, President; Margaret Murphy.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Girls' Athletic Association devotes its time to the benefit and entertainment of the girls who are athletically inclined. The plans of the organization were successfully accomplished in every manner. It is evident that such successful undertakings of the G. A. A. are due to the officers of previous years, and that the endeavors of the 1934 officers are answerable for the fulfillment of an exciting and enjoyable year. Miss Alice M. Brown, our faculty adviser is greatly responsible for the success of the G. A. A. because of her untiring efforts and her helpful advice.

The opening event of the year was the double tennis tournament. Ruth Brooks and Rita Doherty were the recipients of the medals. It is well to note that this year the G. A. A. has added to her long list of sports another major activity, a Tennis Team.

This year the welcoming party to the freshmen was given in the form of a Baby Party. The gymnasium was appropriately decorated to resemble as near as possible a nursery. The upperclassmen, who presented the comedy, "Curses, What A Night", gave an excellent interpretation of the play.

On November 23, the officers delivered Thanksgiving baskets to several needy families of Cambridge. We wish to take this opportunity to extend our appreciation to all those members who made it possible by contributing food.

At the Christmas Party, Santa Claus in person entertained us and presented each member present a small gift. Entertainment was given by several upperclassmen immediately after Santa's departure. Dancing was also enjoyed.

SENIOR BASKETBALL TEAM

Second Row: Josephine Ciampi, Barbara Sheridan, Mary Rymsha, Miss Brown.

First Row: Agnes Benkoski, Virginia Eisenhauer, Mary McDonald, Alice Tibbetts, Marion Leary.

The Girl Dance which was held January 16th was an overwhelming success. Both past members and present members thronged the gymnasium.

The annual Boy Dance was held in the Alfred Lassman Gymnasium in Rindge on Friday evening, February 2nd. We are proud to state that this year's attendance greatly exceeds that of other years.

On Wednesday evening, April 18th the G. A. A. held its yearly masquerade. Josephine Ciampi and Judith Sweet were awarded prizes for the best costumes.

The main event of the year which is celebrated last but not least, the picnic to Kendall Green is now the cause of much excitement.

GIRLS' VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM

This year, the varsity held games with Somerville, Medford, Everett and the Alumnae. The team was very successful as they lost only one game of the four. The scores were as follows:

Cambridge Varsity	18	Somerville Varsity	13
Cambridge Varsity	17	Medford Varsity	13
Cambridge Varsity	10	Everett Varsity	26
Cambridge Varsity	28	Alumnae	8

The first varsity was comprised of three seniors, Marian Leary, Mary McDonough, and Alice Tibbetts; one junior, Catherine Norton, and four sophomores, Edith Coady, Edwina Mullin, Edna Gulgus, and Minnie Pietkewicz. Edith Coady was the efficient captain of the first varsity and Margaret Murphy headed the second varsity.

Varsity Basketball Team

Third Row: Minnie Pietkewicz, Mary McDonough, Miss Brown, Edwina Mullins, Katherine Norton.

Second Row: Alice Tibbetts, Edna Gulgus, Marian Leary.

First Row: Edith Coady, Captain.

Senior Basketball Team

The senior basketball team began its season handicapped by the decrease in the number of players. Regardless of this fact, each girl tried her best and therefore defeated the almost invincible juniors. The scores for the two games are as follows:

Juniors	7	Seniors	22
Juniors	9	Seniors	29

The senior team was then forced to bow to the strong sophomore team, thus giving for the first time in the history of the school the championship to the sophomores.

The seniors made an excellent record in their games with outside teams. Among the schools they competed with are: Arlington, Belmont, Waltham, Newton, Medford and Everett.

Individuality prevailed also in the senior team. What could we do without the skill of Marian Leary and Virginia Eisenhower, our guards. Our forwards, who with their keen eyes scored many a point to bring our team to victory, are Barbara Sheridan, Agnes Benkoski, Mary Rymsha and Evelyn Postell. We cannot, however, forget our centers who displayed splendid team-work, Mary McDonough and Alice Tibbetts. Especially worthy of praise is our Manager Josephine Ciampi.

Before closing, the senior basketball team wishes to express their appreciation to our coach and beloved friend Miss Brown.

We, the undersigned, having concluded four years of superb scholarly endeavor, and being of unsound mind and in possession of none of our faculties do solemnly bequeath the following:

1. The sum of one pezozee, the sole residue of our once-bountiful treasury, to be expended in the construction of a home for aged and decrepit sixth year seniors.
2. To the biology classes a supply of surplus frogs and worms — May you pith forever.
3. To Mr. Bramhall a supply of MacIntosh apples to be disposed of by him without unwelcome assistance.
4. To the incoming freshmen our school spirit. This added to their own should result in the abandonment of sports.
5. To the class of 1935 our artistic temperament, exhibits of which may be found on walls, desks, blackboards, and chairs in the forms of initials, cartoons, meaningless words, and what have you.
6. To all seniors cultivating a follicle outgrowth upon that part of the epidermis directly beneath the proboscis one bottle of Glovers Mange Cure.
7. To those pupils of future classes with slim chances of receiving a sheepskin, our diplomacy in being quick to appreciate teachers' jokes at the approach of graduation time.
8. To those seniors who will begin anew next year as seniors and pretend to be P. G.'s, our sympathy and diligence.
9. To our successors our inexhaustible list of excuses for dismissals, absences, tardiness, and that most dreaded of all catastrophes, seventh period.
10. To those teachers who conscientiously — but futilely tried to instill knowledge into our foggy and befuddled minds, our heartfelt sympathy.

CAMBRIDGE HIGH AND LATIN SCHOOL

11. To those who go out with members of the K. B. all our old suits, (Odd sizes and makes — Come early).

All these do we most generously and readily leave to our successors and may they prosper in the realization that they too may attain that goal, that pinnacle of supremacy, freedom, and dictatorship, that garden of paradise — P. G. ship.

We therefore affix our signature this 10th day of June in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four.

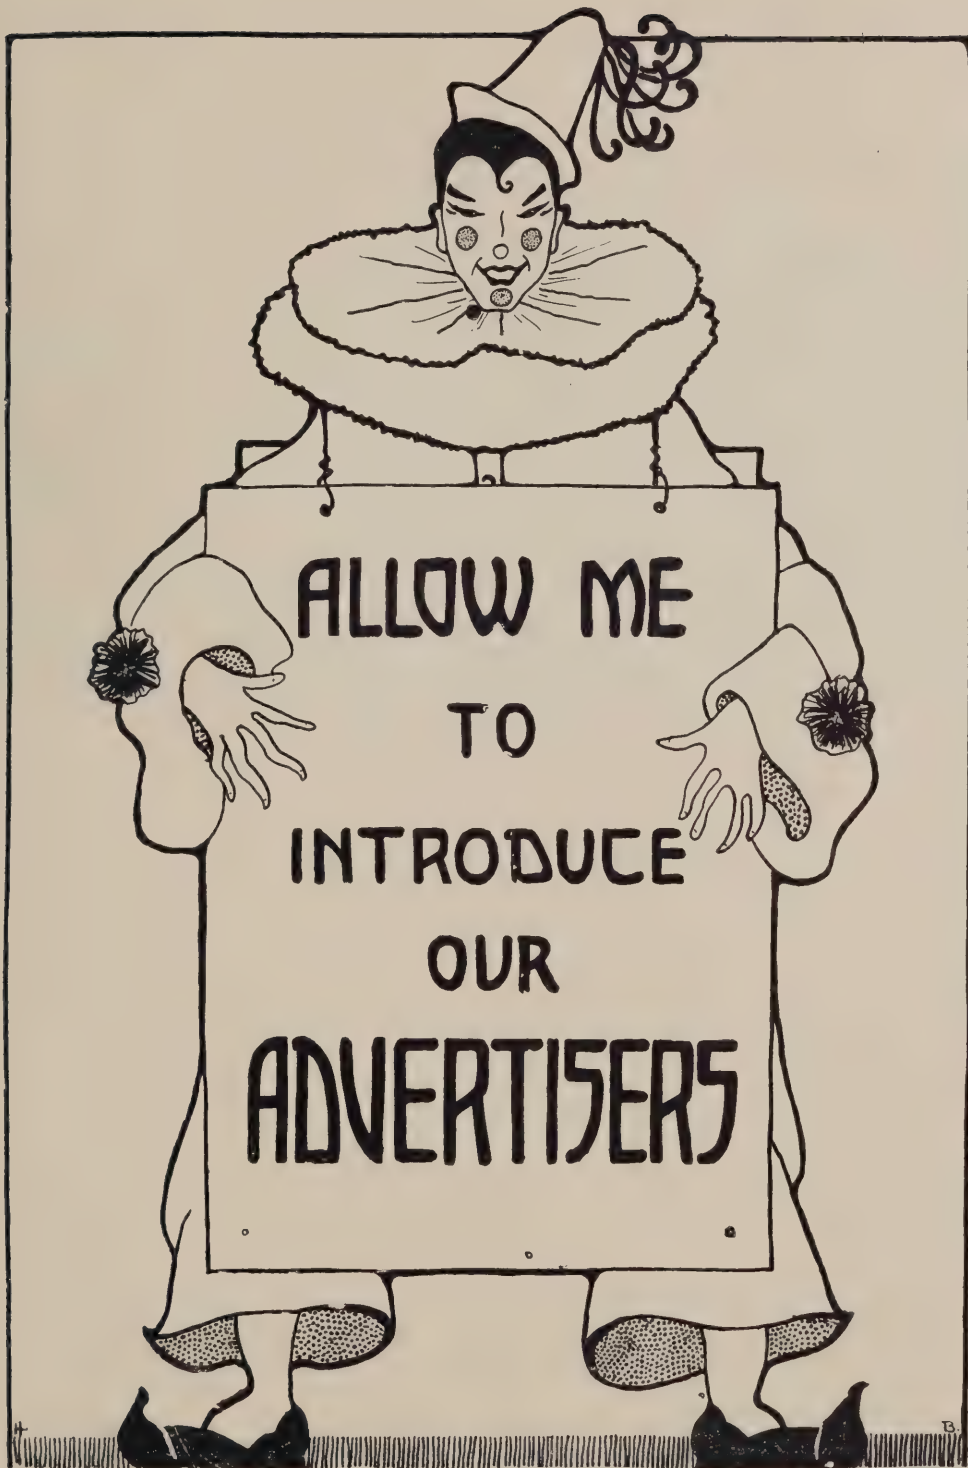

Signed: THE CLASS OF 1934

Epilogue

On leaving school for that bigger school called "Life", our thoughts return to the happy four years spent at Cambridge High and Latin School. We remember how we have changed from hesitating children, to youths with the learning and courage necessary for our future. We have experienced new adventures, found new friends, and enjoyed the advice and friendship of our guiding teachers. Whatever the world may have in store for us, we shall always be grateful to Cambridge High and Latin for giving us the right start.
